

BEYOND THE 2012 PROPHECIES

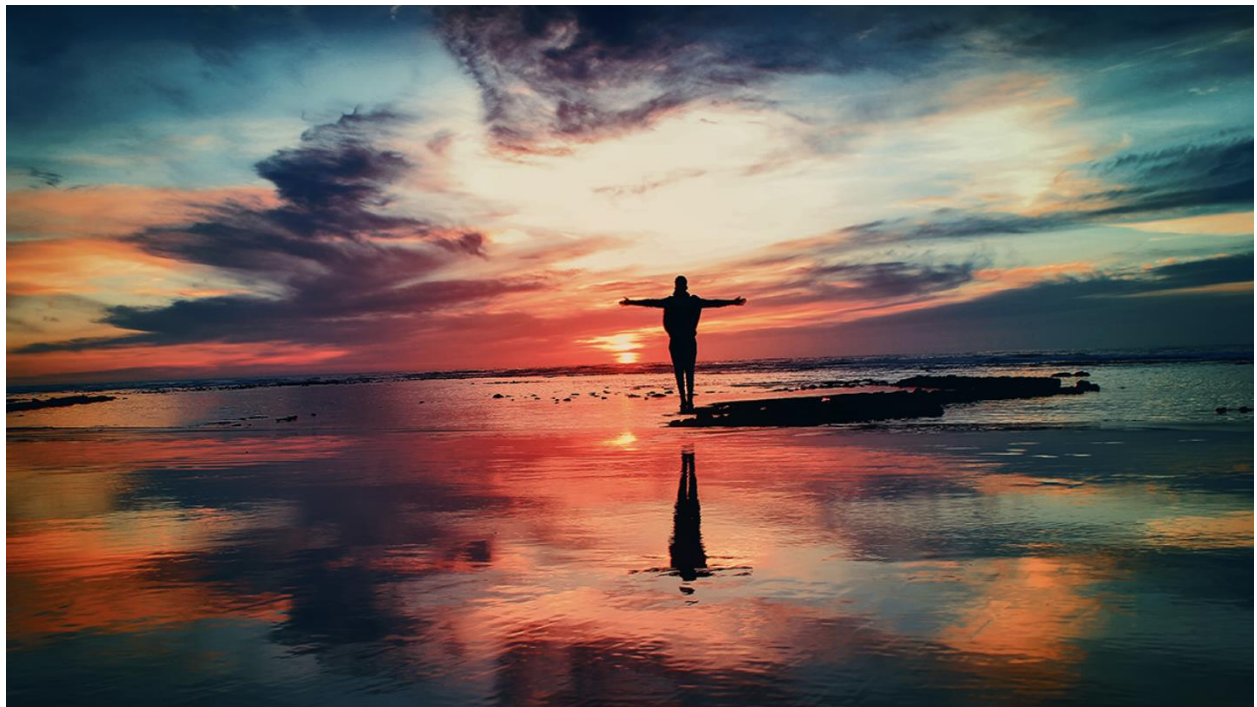

Homework for Module 10

We have transitioned through a major gateway over the last few months. Many seers have looked upon the transition from 2019 into the year of 2020 as the portal that we expected 2012 to be.

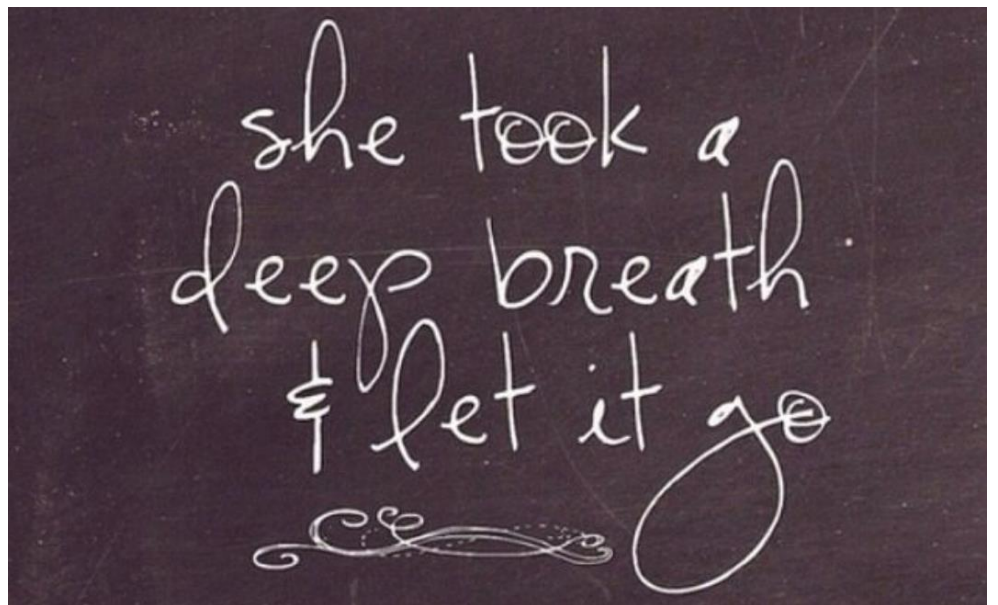

There have been massive emotional and energetic shifts that we have experienced personally, here in our LITE community and in the consciousness of the collective.

Here in our group, my guidance has been to prepare us to wipe the slate clean. To be at a brand-new place in our experience so that we can create with a new canvas as opposed to creating a new picture over the old painting.

Over the months, we have gone deeply into owning our ancestral gifts. We have journeyed into embracing and owning what we are claiming in our authority, our leadership capacity and the strong guidance has suggested to us that we have tipped the scale to a place within ourselves where processing, clearing, reprogramming, while perhaps may still be valuable tools to work with, are not where we need to focus our intentions.

Compassion and understanding will act as great catalysts for the denser of energies to transmute to a higher level through acceptance which will facilitate the integration but many have now done enough of their 'work' or have acclimated to the higher frequencies so that our energetic bodies, our focused intention and our service to our soul's purpose and its service to humanity may now take on an exalted role into creation in outward expression.

This is the place where you lead by example. Where you are creating with form in synchronicity. Where your thoughts truly create your reality on a moment by moment basis. Where your ability to be present and witness what is as opposed to projecting how something may repeat itself or how the future may turn out, will demonstrate to you your innate ability to manifest and direct your intentions into physical manifestations.

It's a powerful time! What shall you direct into your experience?

What are you willing to let go of and let God so that you may gift yourself the heart and mind focus to bring to life that which is burning inside of you?

What no longer serves you or those that you love or wish to have peace with in any capacity? If there is anything lingering that feels incomplete, make the conscious choice to either complete it through direct action and interaction or perform a ritual to release it to a higher consciousness so that you set yourself and those you have been holding onto energetically or empathically, once and for all. The slate has been wiped clean!

The time we have been waiting for has arrived!

This week I would like to invite you to go back into the activation that I facilitated on last week's call.

Click here to listen and/or download

I also encourage you to take time to write and journal about the changes that you have witnessed within yourself in the last 12 months. Go through and do a full inventory.

What has grown within you?

How are you showing up in relationship to others that may have changed?

What inspires now that perhaps is new or that you feel is possible in this stage of your life?

Is there anything that you feel might be holding you back?

And if there is, what action steps can you take to start being in relationship with that which is making you feel stuck, if anything?

Remember sometimes the action steps can be very directed, if you will masculine in their efforts and sometimes they can be more feminine in nature, again, letting go and letting God, just releasing what feels as it has to be done or pulling you in an uncomfortable direction and knowing that if it is truly meant for you it will flow to you.

Next also take quiet time and journal about what makes you happy, brings you joy, excites you. And feel into the joy of writing about this. This is a simple yet powerful experience that sets a tone for what is possible as a baseline for your 2020 and beyond.

While these exercises may seem simple, dedicated energy and intention that get you in touch with your wisdom and power of what is already innately in you will help to direct you to move beyond a point of manifestation into actual creation mode.

The difference between the two are that manifestation requires you to be in forward motion, looking for, anticipating and creation sits in the stillness of what is, your presence, your power and divinity within. It's the new paradigm that we have access to now. It's what we anticipated 2012 to become manifest through our creations along the journey of our soul's plan.

Welcome to your new year - Welcome to Living in the extraordinary!

With all of my love,

John